FIGHT OVER COURT JURISDICTION IN THE CASE OF "KEY" KEYS

SAYS MRS. EDDY HAS CONTROL OF THE CHURCH AT 85

Keys' Lawyer Declares Client Is Citizen of Massachusetts and That He Is Sane

A fight to determine whether the estate of Oliver O. Massachusetts Keys, wealthy Harvard graduate of Connecticut and Boston, who recently was secretly married in New York to Miss Florence R. Girardin, former Harvard Club educator, is to be made in this State.

Attorney William J. Kelly, counsel for the forty-four-year-old wife, contends that his client is a citizen of Massachusetts and that, therefore, the courts of this State have no right to pass on any of the affairs. He contended that the probate proceedings are pending against Keys in Connecticut, and a guardian has been appointed over him.

Attorney Charles P. Johnson, who was appointed guardian, has declared that Keys will be arrested if he comes back to this State. He says he does not recognize the place of his charge and the young Dutchman woman as legal.

The other hand, Keys' Boston lawyer says he is prepared to prove by two of the most eminent attorneys of Massachusetts that his client is sane. He plans to introduce the jurisdiction of the case, in case of either the probate proceedings or the criminal will be dropped and "Home," as known to the enjoyment of his estate.

Mr. Kelly states that if Keys is held to be sane by the court having jurisdiction, the marriage to Miss Girardin will be valid, regardless of the fact that he was under guardianship when the ceremony was performed.

If Keys were a sane man, said Mr. Kelly to a Boston American reporter, "he would never have heard of him. These proceedings probably never would have been brought."

It is intended to prove that he is sane. Two of the most prominent and reliable attorneys in this State have examined him and declared he is sane.

At the mountain Keys and his bride remain apart, she is living with her mother, Ephraim Corner, Dutchman, and he is staying at a Boston hotel.
